The usual site of vascular access for coronary angiography or angioplasty is through the femoral artery, and the vast majority of coronary procedures is performed this way.

The transfemoral route is popular, as puncturing the accessible and large calibre of femoral arteries is relatively easy, and most coronary catheters are in fact pre-shaped to facilitate procedures performed from this route. In 1989, Dr. Lucien Campeau, Montreal, introduced transradial access for performing coronary angiography, and in 1993, Dr. Ferdinand Kiemeneij, Amsterdam, reported his experience with coronary angioplasty through the radial route.

The transradial route is now becoming increasingly popular, with the primary advantages of allowing earlier mobilisation of patients post procedure, and significantly less vascular complications when compared to transfemoral access.

In our meeting we would like to present the current best knowledge and practice about the transradial route. Together with world experts in the transradial technique we will present an attractive program with lectures and live cases.

We would be delighted to welcome you at the Universitätsklinikum Erlangen.

13.50 – 13.55

Welcome
by the head of the Department of Cardiology and Angiology,
Universitätsklinikum Erlangen, Germany
W. G. Daniel, Erlangen (Germany)

13.55 – 14.00

Welcome
by the chairman of the Working Group
for Radial Interventions of the German
Society of Cardiology
S. Hoffmann, Berlin (Germany)

14.00 – 14.15

In memoriam
Alexander Doganov (1952 – 2011)
Y. Louvard, Massy (France)

Chair: W. G. Daniel, I. Gilchrist, J. Nolan

14.15 – 14.30

Patient selection and essential equipment
H. Rittger, Erlangen (Germany)

14.30 – 15.30

Live case I
T. Patel, Ahmedabad (India)
C. Garlichs, Erlangen (Germany)

Live case II
S. Achenbach, Giessen (Germany)
J. Ludwig, Erlangen (Germany)

15.30 – 16.00

Same day discharge and radial lounge
F. Kiemeneij, Amsterdam (Netherlands)

16.00 – 16.30

Break

Agenda II

Friday, February 10th, 2012

Chair: Y. Hikichi, Y. Louvard, S. Hoffmann

16.30 – 17.30

Live case III
F. Kiemeneij, Amsterdam (Netherlands)
C. Garlichs, Erlangen (Germany)

Live case IV
M. Hamon, Caen (France)
H. Rittger, Erlangen (Germany)

17.30 – 18.00

Anatomic variations:
From the wrist to the heart
T. Patel, Ahmedabad (India)

18.00 – 18.30

TRA in acute myocardial infarction
J. Ludwig, Erlangen (Germany)

18.30 – 19.00

Concerns of the radial approach:
spasm, stroke and radiation exposure
J. Nolan, Stoke-on-Trent (Great Britain)

19.10

Adjourn

20.00

Dinner/Get-together

Agenda III

Saturday, February 11th, 2012

Chair: C. Garlichs, S. Saito, J. Coppola

08.15 – 09.30

Adoption of the TRA in China

F. Kiemeneij, Amsterdam (Netherlands)

Adoption of the TRA in Europe

J. Nolan, Stoke-on-Trent (Great Britain)

Adoption of the TRA in US

I. Gilchrist, Hershey (USA)

Adoption of the TRA in India

T. Patel, Ahmedabad (India)

Adoption of the TRA in Japan

S. Saito, Kamakura (Japan)

09.30 – 09.45

Discussion

09.45 – 10.15

Transradial access in high risk patients: women, obese and old patients

Y. Louvard, Massy (France)

10.15 – 10.45

Complications and complication management

C. Garlichs, Erlangen (Germany)

10.45 – 11.15

Break

Agenda IV

Saturday, February 11th, 2012

Chair: S. Achenbach, J. Nolan, M. Hamon

11.15 – 12.15

Live case V

S. Saito, Kamakura (Japan)

D. Ropers, Erlangen (Germany)

11.15 – 12.15

Live case VI

Y. Louvard, Massy (France)

H. Rittger, Erlangen (Germany)

12.15 – 12.45

Hemostasis, bleeding complications, and fate of the accessed artery (occlusion rates, re-accessibility)

M. Pauschinger, Nuremberg (Germany)

12.45 – 14.15

Break

Chair: D. Ropers, H. Rittger, M. Pauschinger

14.15 – 14.45

Glimpse into the future: new materials and new developments

S. Saito, Kamakura (Japan)

14.45 – 15.15

Transradial access for noncoronary interventions

J. Coppola, New York (USA)

15.15 – 15.45

Evidence based transradial intervention – trials, registries, and EAPIC-consensus

M. Hamon, Caen (France)

15.45 – 16.00

Closing remarks

J. Ludwig, Erlangen (Germany)

Direction

Arrival by airplane

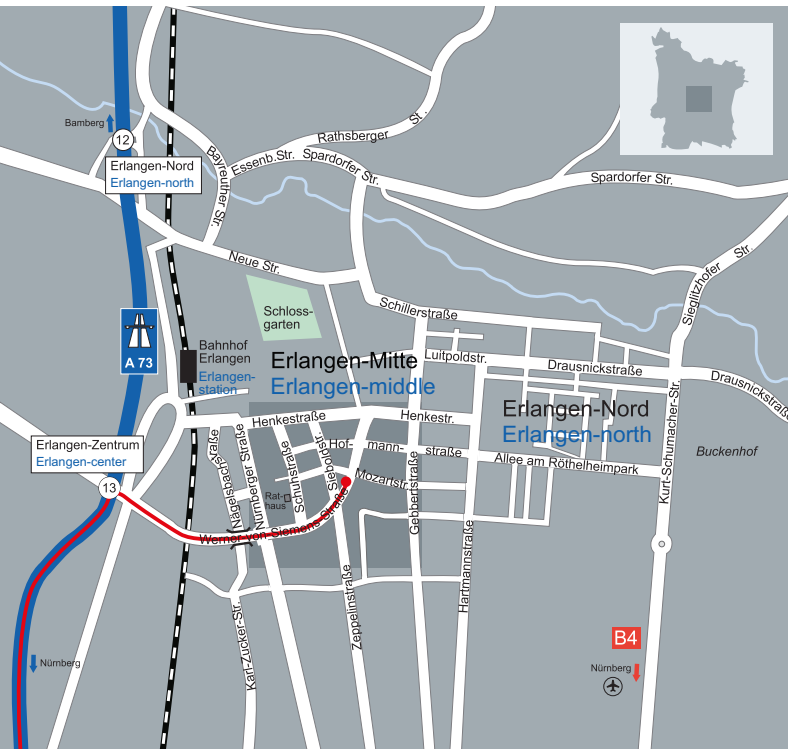

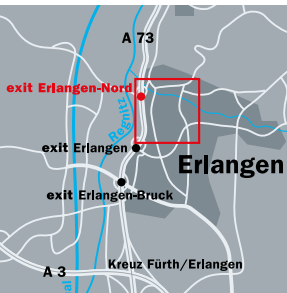

You can reach the Airport Nuremberg from all over the world. By car it takes about 20 minutes from the airport to Erlangen.

Arrival by car

Outside Erlangen Germany's most important north-south- and east-west-highways are interlacing. At the motorway exit "Erlangen-Zentrum" / „Erlangen-Ost", please follow "Werner-von-Siemens-Straße" to reach the „Himbeerpalast".

Arrival by train

The central station at Nuremberg is one of Germany's most important railway intersections. It provides express train connections to virtually all European metropolises every hour. From Nuremberg to Erlangen it takes about 20 minutes by regional train.
